

Psychology Department Policy on Refreshments for Classes

The department will reimburse expenses for refreshments provided to classes for special-occasion-type learning experiences (end-of-semester presentations; evening special events that the class is expected to attend, such as movies for enrichment, etc.) on the basis of about $25 for a (more or less full) seminar or 210 section. This would cover about 3 large plain pizzas from Lehigh Pizza or a good bit of crackers and cheese, etc., per event. Of course, if your seminar or 210 section is less than fully enrolled, it would make sense to scale back. If there is some special occasion that would require more than that allocation, please consult the chair in advance.

As always, the more we spend on this item the less we have to spend on other things, so don't feed your class just to use up your allocation. Use it when it makes sense in the educational context.

Updated 6/15/2010